

So now one should invest in facilities based Broadband wireless competition? Why? So in two years you can issue a Review to eliminate the competition like you did in the Wireline Bureau Broadband proceedings. The FCC's Broadband Motto of "Build it and we will take it away" is a horrible way to evoke confidence to enter a new market.

A friendlier "Facilities-based Competition" minded FCC is needed. One that supports facilities based competitors. Not a Commission that decimates them.
